Consider the phrase "one of" as a synonym for "among". This way, your sentence reads: "Honda and Toyota are among the best selling cars in the US" I hope this clarifies this particular

difference

In your context, the best relates to {something}, whereas best relates to a course of action. Plastic, wood, or metal container? What was the best choice for this purpose? Plastic, wood,

"Which one is the best" vs. "which one the best is"

"Which one is the best" is obviously a question superlative, "best." In English, unlike in some other languages such as Spanish, the superlative does not require a definite article. In fact, it

grammar

So, " It is the best ever " means it's the best of all time, up to the present. " It was the best ever " means either it was the best up to that point in time, and a better one may have

articles

The word "best" is an adjective, and adjectives do not take articles by themselves. Because the noun car is modified by the superlative adjective best, and because this makes the format, so it makes sense that " which one the best is " should be the correct form. This is very good instinct, and you could even argue that
